Khayakazi Namfu believes the continent's greatest resource is its people and that it is our joint responsibility to unlock its potential through education and opportunity.

Formally trained at UCT where she obtained her BSc Property Studies (Hons) degree she has worked in both the private and public property sector. Her entire career in the public service has been dedicated to professionalizing public sector property management in order to improve the country's balance sheet and as a result improve service delivery.

Dealing with the depth and impact of the legacy of apartheid in the built environment drew her into community development work in her personal capacity. As a result she began working with small scale farmers who were land redistribution beneficiaries around securing land tenure, food security and social development. As a result of this work she was selected as a 2013 Spark* Changemaker, one of President Barack Obama's 2015 Mandela Washington Fellows and was selected to participate in the Emerging African Leaders Programme in 2018.

Please join us in welcoming her to her new position and wish her well.
